

ACS SPRING 2021

MACROMOLECULAR CHEMISTRY: THE SECOND CENTURY

#ACSSpring2021

Thursday, 4/08/2021, 9:00 AM – 12:00 PM Pacific Daylight Time (PDT)

The Elephants in the Room: Ethics, Equity, and the Early Career Author

Organizers and Presiders: Judith Currano and Patricia Mabrouk

In this symposium, we will explore several critical issues including gender and ethnicity and the impact of these “elephants in the room” on issues of authorship and federal funding as they have the potential to impact the satisfaction, scholarly productivity, and success of younger chemists.

- 9:00 Introductory Remarks
- 9:05 Driving change in research culture and scholarly publishing. Norton, Laura
- 9:35 Gender and racial disparities in scholarly production and their implications for early career researchers. Sugimoto, Cassidy
- 10:05 Racial inequities in federal funding for biomedical research. Gilpin, Nicholas
- 10:35 Intermission
- 10:40 Contributions undergraduates make to research projects: using the CRediT taxonomy to assess undergraduate research experiences. Zell, Adrienne
- 11:10 How do chemistry faculty and graduate students engage in ethical decision making on issues related to authorship. Gao, Yiyang
- 11:40 Discussion